Beauvais Lake

A beautiful place to be with

The elegant trees and the majestic

mountains

Where there is always something to see and do

Underneath the big sky and beautiful

mountains

That teem with life

Awaiting

An adventure

With you.

Come, be a part of the amazing,

Be a part of the enchanting,

Make and be a part of the history

In the place you will love
Crocus
By: Brook Balazs

Blooming faithfully to signal the end of the cold,
The freezing, desolate, ice world that lingers
Until the warm rays come to take Back the land and the lake
From the frost and quiet that holds it.

Purple and dainty the soft petals emerge
Bowing down to their bright lord of the sky
Then rising to salute with their pretty petals,
To show Spring the change that has taken place,
Revealing the return of buzzing life.

The flowers of divine beauty pave the path for
The start of the growth to come.
Spring is finally here.
